

A woman with short, light-colored hair is standing in a grassy area. She is wearing a black, short-sleeved jumpsuit with a high collar and a vertical seam down the front. She is positioned under a tree with pink cherry blossoms. In the background, there is a multi-story building with white walls and red accents. The overall scene is bright and outdoors.

ABOUT

The label working title was founded in Berlin in 2018 by fashion designer Antonia Goy and architect Bjoern Kubeja.

working title started with the ambition to design garments that are aesthetic and sustainable at the same time.

Inspired by art and architecture, the duo's creations are bold and individual: striking minimalist silhouettes with distinctive creative details create the ideal day to evening apparel for the modern sophisticate.

working title believes in building a wardrobe of seasonless and timeless styles that can accompany the wearer for a long time.

working title sustainable approach starts with the thorough engineering of all their garments and considers the entire lifecycle of a product from the beginning until the end. working title aims to minimize the impact on the environment by producing only as much as needed, by using the most exclusive and finest natural materials like mulesing-free wool as well as certified organic cotton and silk. working title does not use any type of mineral oil-based fabrics, interlinings or trims within their products. All garments are compostable, 100% plastic-free and mindfully handcrafted in selected family-run workshops in Germany, Poland and Italy as well as in their Berlin studio.

working title collections are currently distributed through pre-order events or online at www.workingtitlestudios.com
